

Dear Black Sheep,

Everyone in the Family has a place. Everyone has a role. Everyone flows together like paint on a canvas. Well, everyone except you. Is it a Scandal? Is it your personality? Is it your constant pushing back against Society? No matter why. You simply do not fit in. You may be loved, cherished, and adored, but you don't truly belong. The Black Sheep. The one who fell through the cracks. Maybe you will claw your way into being in the Family's good graces? Maybe you shouldn't have to.

Skills:

You might be the Black Sheep, but that does not mean you are lacking. You gain 4 dots in two skills, 3 dots in two skills, and 2 dots in two final skills. You got to explore more of your interests because you were able to slip through the cracks of responsibility.

Personality:

Since you're the Black Sheep, you truly had to change the way you moved throughout the world. You gain 1 dot in Poise, Composure, and Wits. However, being the Black Sheep means you lose a dot in Intellect and Presence. You no longer know what is happening with the family business and frankly, you fade into the background and you are not sure if anyone would even notice if you disappeared entirely.

Standing:

You start at a Standing 2 in the Family. You have less sway over Family matters and the Family never turns to you for advice. Perhaps if you rise in Standing, the Family may favor you more. Or perhaps, you will fall from grace and give them a good reason for never trusting you.

Accomplishments:

This is a list of accomplishments that you can take as the Black Sheep. A few are personal to your trope, but you may take any three. If you find that a skill you want isn't listed, speak with your Author about making yourself a new skill.

Black Sheep Accomplishments	All Accomplishments:
Level Headed, Generosity, Discretion, Observant	Dancing, Court Politics, Humor, Instrument, Art Form, Grooming, Sports, Hunting, School Lessons, Flattery, Religion, Flirtation, Fashion

Finesse:

As the Black Sheep of your Family, you gain an Ambition. This is a personal goal of yours that drives you forward. If you are doing an action in pursuit of your Ambition, you are Advantaged on the attempt. Nothing will stand between you and your goals. Not again.

Foible:

Unfortunately, the Black Sheep is no longer as valuable in the Family from a Society point of view. The Black Sheep cannot use their Family's Status to gain Advantage. Why should anyone care about you?